Cold War Thaws Out Guided Reading:

Perform or Else Jon McKenzie, 2002-09-26 Performance has become one of the key terms for the new century But what do we mean by performance In today's world it can refer to experimental art productivity in the workplace and the functionality of technological systems Do these disparate fields bear any relation to each other In Perform or Else Jon McKenzie asserts that there is a relationship cultural organisational and technological performance In this theoretical tour de force McKenzie demonstrates that all three paradigms operate together to create powerful and contradictory pressures to perform or else This is an urgent and important intervention in contemporary critical thinking It will profoundly shape our understanding of twenty first century structures of power and knowledge REMEMBER WHEN 1960 ~ 1969 Peace, Love, and Excess

Christopher Graham, 2025-11-17 Remember When 1960 1969 Peace Love and Excess The decade that tuned in turned on and freaked out The 1960s didn't just change the world they blew it wide open It was the age of moon landings and motel protests long hair and short patience acid trips and assassinations The decade that preached peace while broadcasting war in color From Beatlemania to body counts flower power to fallout shelters Remember When 1960 1969 takes you through the kaleidoscope of a generation that thought it could save the world with love and found out love doesn't pay the rent America was marching Britain was swinging Canada was politely revolutionizing The world hummed with guitars television static and the sound of everything breaking rules traditions and occasionally minds It was a time when men went to the moon women burned their bras and everyone learned you can't smoke your way to enlightenment but that didn't stop them from trying Part history part time machine part cultural hangover this is the story of a decade that dared to believe peace was possible even as it set the world on fire The Sixties didn't age They detonated Each printed copy now comes with a word search puzzle celebrating the decade The New York Times Magazine, 1993 Signal, 1989 Pacific Rural Press, 1894

Frontier, 1959 The Word, 1959 History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2007-07-18 The third volume in the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe focuses on the making and remaking of those institutional structures that engender and regulate the creation distribution and reception of literature The focus here is not so much on shared institutions but rather on such region wide analogous institutional processes as the national awakening the modernist opening and the communist regimentation the canonization of texts and censorship of literature These processes which took place in all of the region's cultures were often asynchronous and subjected to different local conditions The volume's premise is that the national awakening and institutionalization of literature were symbiotically interrelated in East Central Europe Each national awakening involves a language renewal an introduction of the vernacular and its literature in schools and universities the creation of an infrastructure for the publication of books and journals clashes with censorship the founding of national academies libraries and theaters a re construction of national folklore and the writing of histories of the vernacular literature The four parts of this volume are
