Crayfish (Cambarus affinis) Dissection Lab

Dorsal view of crayfish.

Prelab/Background:

Read over the crayfish notes this lab instruction sheet. We only have 1 day to dissect, therefore it is important that you have read and know what to do and what you are looking for.

Please answer the following questions using your crayfish notes.

1. List three characteristics that all arthropods share.
2. Name two other animals in the same phylum as a crayfish.
3. The cephalothorax of a crayfish is covered by a thick armor called a carapace. What body regions are fused to make up the cephalothorax?
4. How do crayfish obtain food?
5. What do crayfish eat?
6. Color the external and internal anatomy diagrams of the crayfish at the end of this lab.

7. Give the complete classification of the crayfish. If you do not follow the rules for writing scientific names, you will not receive credit!

Crayfish Dissection Lab Sheet:

Undisciplined Animals Pär Segerdahl, 2011-05-25 Animal studies is not a discipline of its own but emerged simultaneously within many disciplines such as sociology geography biology art history education research philosophy anthropology film studies political science and gender research Animal studies stands for a transformed way of doing scholarly work always through the lens of the human animal relationship If anything keeps the field together it is the productive incoherence that it creates wherever it challenges human centred modes of work What does it mean to do animal studies Due to the essential undisciplinarity of the field a traditional textbook approach could not answer the question Undisciplined Animals is a series of confessions this is how I and my basic outlook changed through the efforts of unruly animals neither of us happily adapting to human centred perspectives The hope is that readers will recognize the same productive tensions in their own work that the book will help them use these tensions and not hide them as breaches of disciplinary rules Undisciplined Animals is a collection of invitations to animal studies addressed to emerging scholars in a variety of fields who want to see how animal studies can vitalize work in their disciplines The chapters are intersected by short interludes that describe an experience a notion or a thought that secretly drives the author's work These interludes reveal animal studies to transgress not only disciplinary borders but also borders between the academic and the personal

Schizoanalysis and Animal Science Education Helena Pedersen, 2019-02-07 Within the education system acts of violence toward animals take place and are manifested on a routine basis in science classes in lecture halls in school canteens and during study visits to zoos farms and slaughterhouses Taken for granted as necessary for teaching and learning this violence profoundly affects animals as well as students It also provides new entry points for understanding education as a multispecies power regime driven by numerous other investments than knowledge dissemination alone What then is the nature of this educational violence and how exactly does education work through techniques of interference with student and animal bodies Based on ethnographic research within upper secondary schools and higher education this book challenges the use of animals in education by innovative engagement of Deleuze and Guattari's tool of schizoanalysis Sparking a fundamental rethinking of educational processes relations and aims the book explores how scientific knowledge about animals proliferates through complex interplay of power and desire in contested spaces of teaching and learning Configuring animal science education as a set of machines working in tandem with the animal industry Helena Pedersen offers radical new insights into how education forms subjectivities and social orders under conditions of capitalist expansion that capture students and animals alike Bringing together education studies science studies critical animal studies and continental philosophy Pedersen also provides examples of disruptive action that can put education to work for transformation and liberation
