

Forward Voicemail to Email

CenturyLink

This enhancement to your CenturyLink Voice Mail service lets you listen to and manage your voice messages on your computer – whenever and wherever you’re online. Incoming voicemails are sent to your preferred email address, attached as a WAV file that can be handled like any other email message. Forward it to someone else, reply via voice or email, save the message to your computer, or file it for reference. You can choose to automatically forward all your messages to email, or choose specific messages to forward individually.

Important: this page is not a replacement for the CenturyLink User Guide.
For message management instructions or message user guide, refer to the CenturyLink website.

Start up Auto-Forwarding of ALL Voicemails

- » Log in to My Account at <https://www.centurylink.com/sem/login.do>
 Use the same CenturyLink user name and password you already have.
 If you haven't set up a My Account profile yet, click the Enroll Now button.
- » From your management console, choose e-Messages in the left column.
 Then click Manage Voicemail under Email Options from the dropdown in the middle.
- » On this Voicemail management screen, click Settings in the top right, then the Messaging tab, and Settings again below that.
- » In the Voicemail Auto-Forwarding box:
  - Check the box to Auto-Forward all voicemail messages to email.
  - Enter the email address that you want all your voicemails forwarded to.
  - Decide whether you want to receive a copy of the forwarded message in your voicemail subject.
- » Make sure to click APPLY when you're done.

For instance, if you forward all incoming messages to your email address, you'll be forwarded the typical business messages. You can also forward messages to your phone or your cell phone, or to another email address. And you can forward messages to your email address, and then receive a copy of each message in your voicemail subject.

■ Forward to your email address.
 If you plan to receive all your incoming messages through your email, this option forwards one attachment of your phone's messages, and you receive your email and message via Microsoft's Windows Mail or Mac OS X Mail.
