The Dog and the Shadow

It happened that a Dog had got a piece of meat and was carrying it home in his mouth to eat it in peace. Now on his way home, he had to cross a plank lying across a running brook. As he crossed, he looked down and saw his own shadow reflected in the water beneath. Thinking it was another dog with another piece of meat, he made up his mind to have that also. So he made a snap at the shadow in the water, but as he opened his mouth the piece of meat fell out, dropped into the water and was never seen more.

Implementing Evidence-Based Academic Interventions in School Settings Sylvia

Rosenfield, Virginia Wise Berninger, 2009-02-26 Designed for both researchers and practitioners this book is a guide to bridging the gap between the knowledge generated by scientific research and application of that knowledge to educational practice With the emphasis on evidence based practice in the schools growing exponentially school practitioners must learn how to understand judge and make use of the research being produced to full effect Conversely researchers must understand what is being used in real world settings and what is still needed The editors of this book have outlined this process as a series of steps beginning with being a critical consumer of current research literature followed by concepts to consider in translating research into practice systems issues at local district and state levels the role of teachers in program implementation evaluation of implementation effectiveness and preservice and inservice professional development of teachers and psychologists Each chapter is written by leaders on the topic and contributors include both researchers and school based practitioners With contributing authors from a variety of disciplines this book is an invaluable treatise on current understanding of the complexities of translating research into educational practice

Cognitive Individual Differences in Second Language Acquisition Zhisheng (Edward) Wen, Richard L. Sparks, Adriana Biedroń, Mark Feng Teng, 2023-04-03 This book presents comprehensive thorough and updated analyses of key cognitive individual difference factors e.g. age, intelligence, language aptitude, working memory, metacognition, learning strategies, and anxiety as they relate to the acquisition, processing, assessment, and pedagogy of second or foreign languages. Critical reviews and in-depth research syntheses of these pivotal cognitive learner factors are put into historical and broader contexts drawing upon the multiple authors' extensive research experience, penetrating insights, and unique perspectives spanning applied linguistics, teacher training, educational psychology, and cognitive science. The carefully crafted chapters provide essential course readings and valuable references for seasoned researchers and aspiring postgraduate students in the broad fields of instructed second language acquisition, foreign language training, teacher education, language pedagogy, educational psychology, and cognitive development

Second Language Anxiety Richard L. Sparks, 2025-07-11 This book traces and summarizes theoretical insights and empirical findings on the topic of whether or not anxiety for language learning could be a causal variable for individual differences in language learning. The author brings together three decades of research to show that first language L1 skills and second language L2 aptitude are confounding variables in studies of language anxiety and that learners' levels of anxiety for L2 learning are strongly related to their levels of language achievement. These findings have suggested that language anxiety instruments reflect students' accurate self perceptions of their language skills and their levels of L1 achievement and L2 aptitude The research presented in this book holds the potential to change the ways in which L2 educators and researchers think about language anxiety how language anxiety is assessed how investigations into language anxiety are conducted and how L2 teachers respond to anxiety in the classroom
