Surgical Technology for the Surgical Technologist Paul Price,Kevin B. Frey,Teri L. Junge,Association of Surgical Technologists,2004 This new edition meets the requirements of the revised Core Curriculum for Surgical Technologists 5th edition It is written by surgical technologists for surgical technologists The content focuses on the concepts and skill development cognitive and procedural required of surgical technologists in the operative environment The text uses the A POSitive CARE approach to surgical problem solving that concentrates on the ability of the surgical technologist to predict the patient s and surgeon s needs through the intraoperative period The goal is for the surgical technologist to apply this model in daily practice for maximum efficiency and effectiveness during the surgical procedure The surgical procedures included in the text were selected for their instructive value and because the skills demonstrated can be applied to many other procedures

Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1983 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Hospital Sterilization Nagaraja Prem Anand,2011 Hospital infection is one of the major causes of morbidity and mortality following any procedure on the human body in the hospital Infection arises primarily because of lack of knowledge by the hospital staff about sterilization Today majority of super specialty hospitals import very expensive sterilizing equipment. However, very little effort is made to train the people who run these machines. We must understand that the machine is as clever or as dumb as the person behind it. Unfortunately, in spite of so many advances in health care and so many advances in medical education, many countries do not have a single recognized training program to train sterilization technicians. This is our effort in that direction to come up with a formal training program to train technicians in this vital area of health care delivery system. This book shall benefit technologists and Central Sterile Supplies Department CSSD staff as well as medical students and hospital administrators to understand the intricacies and workings of a successful CSSD unit and contribute to hospital infection control in a large way.

Surgical Technology for the Surgical Technologist Bob Caruthers, Teri L. Junge, Association of Surgical Technologists, 2001. This new text is written by surgical technologists and surgical technology educators with over 50 years of combined experience in the field, the only text written specifically for the surgical technologist. It focuses on the knowledge and cognitive skills required of the surgical technologist. It introduces the A Positive Care Approach, a systematic approach to intraoperative problem solving that focuses on the ability of the surgical technologist serving in the traditional role called first scrub to predict the surgeon's and patient's needs. Features: Meets the Association of Surgical Technologists Core Curriculum for Surgical Technology 4th edition. Surgical procedures are presented by surgical speciality in a consistent illustrative format throughout the text that helps students develop a pattern for learning procedures. Objectives reflect the CARE and APOS acronyms, memory tools for systematic problem solving. Case studies and questions for further study in each chapter apply concepts learned and stimulate critical thinking. The color insert provides an overview of select anatomic systems and illustrates practical aspects of surgical technology. Pearls of Wisdom tips from the author's experience help the student maintain a practical focus on the procedure. Supplements: Computerized Testbank 0 7668 0665 0, Instructor's Manual 0 7668 0663 4, Student Workbook 0 7668 0664 2.

Sterilization Technology for the Health Care Facility Marimargaret Reichert, Jack H. Young, 1997. A guide to sterilizing medical equipment rather than patients for professionals in central processing, operating rooms, infection control, and materials management, possibly of interest as well to designers and manufacturers of medical instruments. Considers the scientific principles and recommended practices of decontamination, criteria for purchasing and repairing general line surgical instruments, preparing supplies for terminal sterilization, packaging, monitoring the sterilization process, steam sterilization, ethylene oxide, new technologies, reusing single use devices, regulatory requirements, cost/benefit analysis, and other topics.
