10. In the table below, select a group that best describes your group as being that type of group according to your organization. The table is completed by making a check mark (✓) in the box. (Please indicate if this was completed in 1990 and/or 1991 before making judgment about each of these groups in 1992.) (For a detailed description of the table, see Table 1 in the Appendix.)

27. "These observations are consistent with these data, which show a linear relationship that shows, on average, results go from 100 to 150. These observations indicate all 750,000 of the observations in your data show, on average, the relationship between your data. It therefore indicates that these results have been reproduced in these 750,000. You can conclude that the results have been reproduced, indicating that the relationship between the data is consistent." (100)

These findings, however, have the important limitation that they are based on self-reported data. Future research should be conducted to determine if these findings are consistent in objective analyses, for example, using data from drug use surveys such as the National Survey on Drug Use and Health (NSDUH) and the National Longitudinal Alcoholism Survey (NLAS).

60. If any of the above is observed or other adverse, threatening conditions develop, it is the responsibility of the person making the observation to report it to the appropriate authority.
