debut crime novel with a psychological edge by an ex Met detective Perfect for fans of Mark Billingham Peter James and Stuart MacBride Gender Roles and Political Contexts in Cold War Spy Fiction Sian MacArthur, 2022-10-31 This book analyses the gender roles and political contexts of spy fiction narratives published during the years of the Cold War It offers an introduction to the development of spy fiction both in England and in the United States and explores the ways in which issues such as the atomic bomb double agents paranoia propaganda and megalomania manifest themselves within the genre The book examines the ongoing marginalization of women within spy fiction texts exploring the idea that this unique period in global history is responsible for the active promotion and celebration of masculinity and male superiority From James Bond to Jason Bourne the book evaluates the ongoing enforcement of patriarchal ideas and oppressions that in the name of national security and patriotic duty have contributed to the development of a genre in which discrimination and bias continue to dominate

The Bondian Cold War Martin D. Brown, Ronald J. Granieri, Muriel Blaive, 2023-09-01 James Bond Ian Fleming's irrepressible and ubiquitous spy is often understood as a Cold Warrior but James Bond's Cold War diverged from the actual global conflict in subtle but significant ways That tension between the real and fictional provides perspectives into Cold War culture transcending ideological and geopolitical divides The Bondiverse is complex and multi textual including novels films video games and even a comic strip and has also inspired an array of homages copies and competitors Awareness of its rich possibilities only becomes apparent through a multi disciplinary lens The desire to consider current trends in Bondian studies inspired a conference entitled The Bondian Cold War convened at Tallinn University Estonia in June 2019 Conference participants drawn from three continents and multiple disciplines film studies history intelligence studies and literature as well as intelligence practitioners offered papers on the literary and cinematic aspects of the spy discussed fact versus fiction in the Bond canon went in search of a global Bond and pondered gender and sexuality across the Bondiverse This volume of essays inspired by that conference suitable for students researchers and anyone interested in Cold War culture makes vital contributions to understanding Bond as a global phenomenon across traditional divisions of East and West and beyond the end of the Cold War from which he emerged

Seeking Meaning, Seeking Justice in a Post-Cold War World Judith Keene, Elizabeth Rezniewski, 2018-03-27 The challenge for historians as for individuals and nations has been to make sense of the Cold War past without recourse to the obsolete frameworks of a dichotomous world The editors of Seeking Meaning Seeking Justice in the Post Cold War World Judith Keene and Elizabeth Rezniewski have brought together contributions that address the diverse modes by which the Cold War is being assessed with a major focus on countries on the periphery of the Cold War confrontation These approaches include developments in historiography as new intellectual and cultural frame are applied to old debates Authors also consider the universal principles and moral discourses including that of human rights on which judgements have been based and judicial processes instigated and the forms of memorialisation that have sought to come to terms and perhaps achieve reconciliation with a Cold War past Contributors are Ann Curthoys Philip Deery Katherine Hite Michael Humphrey Su kyong Hwang Perry Johansson Judith Keene Betty O'Neill Peter Read Elizabeth Rezniewski Estela Valverde Adrian Vickers and Marivic Wyndham

Threatened Masculinity from British Fiction to Cold War German Cinema Joseph Willis, 2019-05-30 The impact of the Cold War on German male identities can be seen in the nation's cinematic search for a masculine paradigm that rejected the fate centered value system of its National

Socialist past while also recognizing that German males once again had become victims of fate and fatalism but now within the value system of the Soviet and American hegemonies that determined the fate of Cold War Germany and Central Europe This monograph is the first to demonstrate that this Cold War cinematic search sought out a meaningful masculine paradigm through film adaptations of late Victorian and Edwardian male writers who likewise sought a means of self determination within a hegemonic structure that often left few opportunities for personal agency In contrast to the scholarly practice of exploring categories of modern masculinity such as Victorian imperialist manliness or German Cold War male identity as distinct from each other this monograph offers an important comparative corrective that brings forward an extremely influential century long trajectory of threatened masculinity For German Cold War masculinity lessons were to be learned from history namely from late Victorian and Edwardian models of manliness Cold War Germans like the Victorians before them had to confront the unknowns of a new world without fear or hesitation In a Cold War mentality where nuclear technology and geographic distance had trumped face to face confrontation between East and West Cold War German masculinity sought alternatives to the insanity of mutual nuclear destruction by choosing not just to confront threats but to resolve threats directly through personal agency and self determination
