Computer Age Understanding Science Nature:

Computable Universe, A: Understanding And Exploring Nature As Computation Hector Zenil, 2012-10-30 This volume with a foreword by Sir Roger Penrose discusses the foundations of computation in relation to nature. It focuses on two main questions. The contributors are world renowned experts who have helped shape a cutting edge computational understanding of the universe. They discuss computation in the world from a variety of perspectives ranging from foundational concepts to pragmatic models to ontological conceptions and philosophical implications. The volume provides a state of the art collection of technical papers and non technical essays representing a field that assumes information and computation to be key in understanding and explaining the basic structure underpinning physical reality. It also includes a new edition of Konrad Zuse's Calculating Space, the MIT translation and a panel discussion transcription on the topic featuring worldwide experts in quantum mechanics, physics, cognition, computation and algorithmic complexity. The volume is dedicated to the memory of Alan M. Turing, the inventor of universal computation, on the 100th anniversary of his birth and is part of the Turing Centenary celebrations.

The Importance of Evolution to Understandings of Human Nature Maxine Sheets-Johnstone, 2023-06-19 This interdisciplinary book focuses on Charles Darwin's extensively detailed observations of all forms of animate life across the global world, humans included. These existential realities of Nature are not commonly recognized in today's world, yet they are all of sizable import in impacting both flora and fauna, thus in human understandings of the nature of the world and the nature of all forms of animate life. Darwin's descriptively anchored observations furthermore tie in directly with Edmund Husserl's phenomenological analyses of experience. However, different their inquiries and wonder at the world and at human experience, their analyses show how descriptive foundations and a concern with origins are integral to both, and how methodology and a living dynamics are central to a recognition of the complementarity of biological, neurological sciences and phenomenology.
