Evidence-Based Programming for Older Adults Marcia G. Ory, Matthew Lee Smith, 2015-06-17. There is increased worldwide concern about the impact of multiple chronic conditions, especially among the rapidly aging population. Simultaneously, over the past decade, there has been an emergence of state-wide and national initiatives to reduce the burden of chronic conditions that draw upon the translation of evidence-based programs (EBPs) into community practice. Yet little has been written about the national and international implementation, dissemination, and sustainability of such programs. This Research Topic features articles about EBPs for older adults, including a range of articles that focus on the infrastructure needed to widely disseminate EBPs as well as individual participant impacts on physical, mental, and social aspects of health and well-being. Using a pragmatic research perspective, this Research Topic will advance knowledge that aims to enhance practice, inform policy, and build systems of support and delivery in regard to the reach, effectiveness, adoption, implementation, and maintenance of evidence-based interventions for older adults. The focus is on knowledge transfer rather than knowledge generation, but with a dual emphasis on the dissemination and sustainability of EBPs that have been tested and shown effective as well as the adaptation of practice-based interventions into evidence-based programs. This Research Topic draws upon grand-scale efforts to deliver these programs and include both U.S. as well as international examples. Commentaries discuss processes in the development and measurement of EBPs and reflect perspectives from program developers and major national and regional funders of EBPs as well as professionals and practitioners in the field. The full-length articles focus on four major programmatic areas: 1) chronic disease self-management programs, 2) fall prevention programs, 3) general wellness and physical activity programs, and 4) mental health programs. Additionally, articles are included to discuss cross-cutting issues related to building partnerships and the research infrastructure for the implementation, evaluation, and dissemination of evidence-based programming. The intent of this Research Topic is to enhance practice, inform policy, and build systems of Master Your Mind and Change Your Life Karl Robin Eklund, 2020-10-10 Do you want to change your life? I know I did. It is actually how this book came about. I researched how to change for months and months. Then I wrote down everything that I learned from my research, all my thoughts and experience as I went through the changes in my life. It wasn't easy, but it was simple. The things you need to do are simple, but doing them consistently is hard. That is why I wrote this guide. I used it as a guide to transform myself. And now it is hope that this guide can be of help to someone put there in need of this guide. In the guide, I go through the basics that you need to understand to be able to truly and fundamentally make lasting changes to your life and lifestyle. Starting with the mind by explaining how it works and what to keep in mind as you go along on your journey of life and continue onto the body and finally the spirit or soul interacts with who you currently are.
