Human Anatomy Laboratory Manual with Cat Dissections Elaine Nicpon Marieb, Susan J. Mitchell, Lori A. Smith, 2013-02-18 This laboratory manual presents the structure of the human body by subdividing it into individual body systems, guiding students through a series of dissection activities for use in the lab accompanied by full color photos and figures. The functional anatomy of each level of organization is studied from the microscopic level of organization to the gross macroscopic level. In addition, the embryological development of each body system and selected pathologies are examined. This manual studies anatomy of the human specimen in particular, but the cat and isolated animal organs are used in the dissection experiments.

Each book in the series is designed to guide the student through the study of anatomical structures. The books do this through the use of clearly marked photographs and illustrations. Accompanying text offers the student both easy to follow dissection instructions and factual information about the section under observation. At the end of each chapter there are tests which can be used for self study or for grade course evaluation Within the traditional dissection portion of a biology course many programs include the sheep heart eye and brain Within many of these guides the author has incorporated photographs of these structures to more closely follow standard course curriculum The author also provides important information on human organs such as the eye ear and heart In this way the student can better understand the role and function of these organs as they relate to human life processes Add to this each book s large size format lay flat spiral binding and reasonable cost and you can see why the Bohensky Dissection Series has become one of the most successful dissection guides used throughout this country s schools
