Pippard, 1971-09-01 First published in 1962 many of the problems in this book started as examination questions in Part I of the Natural Sciences Tripos which is taken at the end of the second year at Cambridge They have suffered some changes since then and have been supplemented by specially invented problems but the general level is the same The university teacher however should not imagine that our purpose in publishing this collection is to provide him with a ready store of examination questions We are much more concerned to help the serious student to understand physics and it is his needs that we have tried to bear in mind throughout Cavendish Problem in Classical Physics A. E. Pippard, 1971 Cavendish present to the nuclear community our new look annual review In its new look with Plenum our new publisher we may hope for a more rapid presentation to our audience of the contents for their consideration the contents themselves however are motivated from the same spirit as the first nine volumes reviews of important developments in both a historical and an anticipatory vein interspersed with occasional new contributions that seem to the editors to have more than ephemeral interest In this volume the articles are representative of the editorial board policy of covering a range of pertinent topics from abstract theory to practice and include reviews of both sorts with a spicing of something new Conn's review of a conceptual design of a fusion reactor is timely in bringing to the attention of the general nuclear community what is perhaps well known to those working in fusion that practical fusion reactors are going to require much skillful and complex engineering to make the bright hopes of fusion as the inexhaustible energy source bear fruit Werner's review of numerical solutions for fission reactor kinetics while not exactly backward looking is at least directed to what is now a well established almost conventional field Fabric s sum mary of the current loss of coolant accident codes is one realisation of the intensity of effort that enables us to call a light water reactor conventional
