Catfish And Mandala Voice:

In Our Own Voices, Redux Teresa Y. Neely, Jorge R. López-McKnight, 2018-06-01 In the 20 year reboot of Neely and Abif's 1996 In Our Own Voices fifteen of the original contributors revisit their stories alongside the fifteen new voices that have been added. This Collective represents a wide range of life and library experiences, gender fluidities, sexualities, races, and other visible and invisible identities. In addition to reflections on lives and experiences since the 1996 volume, chapters cover the representation of librarians of color in the profession at large and more specifically those among them who are still the only one the specter of us serving them still, and migrations from libraries to other information providing professions. These authors reflect on their careers and lives in libraries and other school and workplace settings as activists, administrators, archivists, library students, and information professionals. They share stories of personal and professional abuse, attempts to find and secure gainful employment, navigating the profession, and how they overcame decades of normalized discrimination to complete their educational and career pursuits. They write about the need for support systems, work-life balance, self-care, communities of support, and the importance of mentoring and being mentored. And above all, they persist and continue to disrupt systems. These essays are from contributors from a variety of libraries and library-related environments and provide answers to questions professionals new to LIS haven't even asked yet. The inclusion of a new group of librarians, his/her, and their stories provides a voice for those currently finding their way through this profession. These essays bring honesty, vulnerability, authenticity, and impactfulness to the diversity conversation in libraries and beyond. And more importantly, these voices from a variety of races, ethnicities, genders, and sexualities matter. Voices of the Asian American and Pacific Islander Experience Sang Chi, Emily Moberg Robinson, 2012-02-13 This unique work presents an extraordinary breadth of contemporary and historical views on Asian America and Pacific Islanders conveyed through the voices of the men and women who lived these experiences over more than 150 years. In 1848 the First Wave of Asian immigration arrived in the United States. By the first decade of the 21st century Asian Americans were the nation's fastest growing racial group. Through a far-ranging array of primary source documents Voices of the Asian American and Pacific Islander Experience shares what it was like for these diverse peoples to live and work in the United States for better and for worse. Organized chronologically by ethnicity, the book covers a panoply of ethnic groups including recent Asian immigrants and mixed-race/mixed-heritage Asian Americans. There is also a topical section that showcases views on everything from politics to class to gender dynamics, underscoring that the Asian American population is not nor has it ever been monolithic. In choosing material, the editors strove to make the volume as comprehensive as possible. Thus, readers will discover documents written by transnational, adopted, and homosexual Asian Americans as well as documents written from particular religious positions. Travel Writing, Form, and Empire Julia Kuehn, Paul Smethurst, 2008-11-19 This volume aims to explore more widely and more locally the expression of imperialist discourse in travel writing and also to locate within contemporary
