based on audience led research and does not privilege textual analysis as a starting point for taking popular media use as measure. Instead it offers research tools to listen to others. This book offers scholars and students of media and creative industries a means to understand their professional position as one in which they engage with rather than assume to know what users of popular cultural texts and products think and feel.

Volume 1 examines film, radio and television and the Internet. Volume 2 covers literature, music, popular art and merchandise and Volume 3 discusses public figures, popular press, places and events. The work is intended for a scholarly audience but presents material in a student friendly, accessible manner.
