

The background of the slide features a stylized graphic of overlapping blue and orange shapes. The shapes are oriented diagonally, creating a sense of depth and movement. The blue shapes are more prominent in the foreground and middle ground, while the orange shapes are more visible in the background. The overall effect is a modern and dynamic visual design.

The Eurasian Wheat Belt and Food Security Sergio Gomez y Paloma, Sébastien Mary, Stephen Langrell, Pavel Ciaian, 2016-10-11 This book provides an in depth analysis of the wheat production developments in the Eurasian region and assesses the potential contribution of the region to domestic and international food security. In particular the book covers policy and institutional developments of the agricultural sector in Eurasia with a special focus on the horizontal issues relevant to the current and future potential growth of the wheat production such as land policy, credit and finance, privatization, farm restructuring and environmental challenges. Global food security is a major societal concern in the light of an increasing population which is projected to grow from around seven billion today to almost 10 billion in 2050. Two most likely ways to achieve the much needed food production growth are expansion of land cultivation or increase in crop yields and total factor productivity. The only region with a significant amount of uncultivated arable land that is at the same time experiencing rising agricultural productivity is the Eurasian wheat belt comprising of Russia, Ukraine, Kazakhstan and the Central Asian countries Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Kirgizstan. This makes the region a potential hotspot for driving the future growth of global agriculture. Such prospects require a detailed investigation of Eurasia's future perspectives in terms of food production with a focus on wheat and its potential contribution to regional and global food security.

Handbook of Peace, Security and Development Fen Osler Hampson, Alpaslan Özerdem, Jonathan Kent, 2020-06-04 This Handbook offers a comprehensive examination of the peace, security and development nexus from a global perspective and investigates the interfaces of these issues in a context characterised by many new challenges. By bringing together more than 40 leading experts and commentators from across the world the Handbook maps the various research agendas related to these three themes taking stock of existing work and debates while outlining areas for further engagement. In doing so the chapters may serve as a primer for new researchers while also informing the wider scholarly community about the latest research trends and innovations. The volume is split into three thematic parts: Concepts and approaches, New drivers of conflict, Insecurity and developmental challenges, Actors, institutions and processes. For ease of use and organisational consistency each chapter provides readers with an overview of each research area, a review of the state of the literature, a summary of the major debates and promising directions for future research. This Handbook will be of much interest to students of peace and conflict studies, development studies, security studies and International Relations.
