☐ T ☐ F 17. Active listening occurs when a support agent is as engaged in the communication process as the user who has a problem.

☐ F ☐ T 19. Restating a problem description using the user's exact words is called paraphrasing.

☐ F ☐ T 20. In troubleshooting a user problem, probing is the use of a volt-ohm meter to measure whether the input electrical voltage is within the specification.

☐ T ☐ F 21. The five critical questions described in this chapter are designed to force a troubleshooter to challenge the assumptions he or she may have made about a problem situation.

☐ T ☐ F 22. After a solution to a user problem has been found, an explanation is a communication where a support agent describes the solution so a user understands both the problem and the solution.

☐ F ☐ T 23. Verification is a troubleshooting procedure that tries to repeat the same problem on another PC.

☐ T ☐ F 24. The books and manuals in a troubleshooter's personal or professional library are part of his or her knowledge base.

☐ F ☐ T 25. A knowledge base is the personal experiences a support agent brings to the table to solve a problem.

☐ F ☐ T 26. Most hardware troubleshooters don't use Internet search engines to locate potential problem solutions because they rarely know the exact model number of hardware devices with problems.
