Assessment and Teaching of 21st Century Skills Esther Care,Patrick Griffin,Mark Wilson,2017-11-07 This book provides a detailed description of research and application outcomes from the Assessment and Teaching of 21st Century Skills project which explored a framework for understanding the nature of these skills The major element of this new volume is the presentation of research information from the global assessment of two 21st century skills that are amenable to teaching and learning collaborative problem solving and learning in digital networks The outcomes presented include evidence to support the validity of assessment of 21st century skills and descriptions of consequent pedagogical approaches which can be used both to teach the skills and to use them to enhance key learning goals in secondary education systems The sections of the volume are connected through a focus on the degree to which innovative assessment tasks measure the constructs of interest This focus is informed by conceptual and methodological issues associated with affordances of 21st century computer based assessment How understanding of the nature of the skills as derived from these assessments can guide approaches to the integration of 21st century skills in the classroom is informed by initiatives adopted by participating countries The guiding questions in this volume are Do the assessment tasks measure the constructs and What are the implications for assessment and teaching in the classroom It is the third volume of papers from this project published by Springer

Assessment in Online and Blended Learning Environments Selma Koç,Xiongyi Liu,Patrick Wachira,2015-03-23 This book examines assessment in online and blended learning offering research based strategies and practical insights for educators It explores effective methods technology tools and best practices to enhance teaching student engagement and learning outcomes

Computer-Based Instruction in Military Environments Robert J. Seidel,P.D. Weddle,2012-12-06 This collection of papers is the result of a symposium sponsored by NATO s Defense Research Group Panel VIII in the Spring of 1985 The symposium came into being when it became obvious to the NATO countries that research development and utilization of advanced technologies for training was the best means of increasing both training effectiveness and efficiency This symposium was the second in a series of three devoted to training The series was structured to cover all aspects of training The first series addressed the value of training the second one dealt with the application of training technologies and the third and last of the series focused on academic issues concerned with the effect of prior learning on subsequent learning The fact that a major American publisher has determined that computer based instruction is the technology of greatest interest to the NATO community is not surprising Advances in microprocessor technology have revolutionized both how and where we train During this symposium there were a limited number of carefully chosen exhibits to demonstrate the various applications of computer based training techniques In the following papers you will find both a practical and scientific basis for the way current and future training and training systems should be designed applied and utilized We know that training must be done faster and more effectively
