Abstract Staphylococcus aureus is a leading cause of nosocomial infection and is resistant to a wide range of antibiotics. The aim of this study was to determine the prevalence of S. aureus in the hospital environment and to identify the risk factors for colonization. A total of 100 samples were collected from the hospital environment and 100 patients. The results showed that 80% of the samples were positive for S. aureus. The risk factors for colonization were identified as the use of antibiotics, contact with the hospital environment, and colonization of the nasal cavity.
