

Chapter 2 Study Guide

Vocabulary (Include definitions and equations where applicable)

Chapter One:

significant figures - All of the valid digits in a measurement, the number of which indicates the measurement's precision.

dimensional analysis - A method of treating units as algebraic quantities that can be cancelled; can be used to check that an answer will be in the correct units.

accuracy - The extent to which a reported measurement approaches the true value of the quantity measured.

precision - the degree of exactness or refinement of a measurement.

uncertainty/error - An expression of the amount of imprecision or variation in a set of measurements.

magnitude - A measure of size.

vector - A quantity, such as position, that has both magnitude and direction.

coordinate system - A system used to describe motion that gives the zero point location of the variable being studied and the direction in which the values of the variable increase.

origin - The point at which both variables in a coordinate system have the same value.

time interval - The difference between two times.

position - The distance and direction from the origin to an object.

distance - The entire length of an object's path, even if the object moves in many directions.

displacement - A change in position having both magnitude and direction; is equal to the final position minus the initial position.

resultant - A vector that represents the sum of two other vectors; it always points from the first vector's tail to the last vector's tip.

position-time graph* - A graph that can be used to determine an object's velocity and position, made by plotting time on the horizontal axis and the position on the vertical axis.

instantaneous velocity - A measure of motion that tells the speed and direction of an object at a specific instant.
