Comparative Poetics Comparative Poetics:

Comparative Poetics Earl Roy Miner, 1990-10-23 Comparative literature Earl Miner writes clearly involves something more than comparing two great German poets and something different from a Chinese studying French literature or a Russian studying Italian literature But what would a true intercultural poetics be This work proposes various ways to study something other than what are all things considered the short and simple annals of one cultural parish at one historic moment The first developed account of theories of literature from an intercultural standpoint the book shows that an originative or foundational poetics develops in cultures with explicit poetics when critics define the nature and conditions of literature in terms of the then most esteemed genres drama lyric or narrative Earl Miner demonstrates that these definitions and inferences from them constitute useful bases for comparative poetics

Cai, 2001-12-30 This comprehensive comparative study of Western and Chinese poetics begins with broad examinations of the two traditions over more than two and a half millennia From these parallel surveys a series of important theoretical questions arises How do Western and Chinese critics conceptualize the nature origin and function of literature What are the fundamental differences if any in their ways of thinking about literature Can we account for these differences by examining Western truth based and Chinese process based cosmological paradigms What are the major distinctive concepts of literature developed within Western and Chinese poetics How have these concepts impacted the development of the two traditions at various times After considering a wide range of major critical texts Configurations of Comparative Poetics presents bold and cogent answers to these questions while shedding light on the distinctive orientations of Western and Chinese poetics The second half of the book features four comparative case studies Plato and Confucius on poetry Wordsworth and Liu Xie on the creative process the twentieth century Imagists and their earlier Chinese counterparts on the relationship of the Chinese written character to poetics and Derrida and the Madhyamika Buddhists on language and onto theology The author not only identifies an array of critical concerns shared by Western and Chinese critics but also differentiates the conceptual models used by each and traces them to cosmological paradigms

How Literary Worlds Are Shaped

Bo Pettersson, 2016-09-12 Literary studies still lack an extensive comparative analysis of different kinds of literature including ancient and non Western How Literary Worlds Are Shaped A Comparative Poetics of Literary Imagination aims to provide such a study Literature it claims is based on individual and shared human imagination which creates literary worlds that blend the real and the fantastic mimesis and genre often modulated by different kinds of unreliability The main building blocks of literary worlds are their oral visual and written modes and three themes challenge perception and relation They are blended and inflected in different ways by combinations of narratives and figures indirection thwarted aspirations meta usages hypothetical action as well as hierarchies and blends of genres and text types Moreover literary worlds are not only constructed by humans but also shape their lives and reinforce their sense of wonder Finally ten reasons are given in order to show how this comparative view can be of use in literary studies In sum How Literary Worlds Are Shaped is the first study to present a wide ranging and detailed comparative account of the makings of literary worlds

Comparative Poetics International Comparative Literature Association. Congress, Claudio Guillén, 1985 Comparative Poetics, 1985 Comparative Poetics, 1996 Comparative Poetics Shamman Roshan, 1988 New Comparative Poetics, 2001 The Variation Theory of Comparative Literature Shunqing Cao, 2014-03-21

Seeing the restrictions of former studies in Comparative Literature and aiming to amend these deficiencies the author of this book mainly discusses the major theoretical significance and academic value of the Variation Theory in the whole process of the development of Comparative Literature in the world In China the seminal comparative study of literature among different cultures can be dated back to ancient China while the founding of comparative literature as a distinct academic discipline has to be largely owing to the influence of the West The modern Chinese study of comparative literature formed its uniqueness under Western influence The direct influence of the translation of western theories into China is remarkable However in the course of translation and reception of Western theories Chinese comparatists and intellectuals have been encountering various problems and solving them with an alternative method accordingly different from the traditional methods proposed by the French School and the American School Therefore in this book modern Chinese study of comparative literature is put in a historical context with regard to the theoretical issue of the discipline in China through the entire 20th century At present many scholars in China and in other countries agree that with the influence study proposed by the French School and the study of analogy advocated by the American School the entire theoretical system of Comparative Literature is well built However when the comparative study of literature between East and West is concerned the theory of Comparative Literature is far from perfect It is not only because many problems still exist but there are significant defects in their theoretical bases respectively Many researches have proven that even with the influence study and the study of analogy we still can not solve many problems in the practice of studies in comparative literature This does not mean that we have no respect for the contributions of the French School and the American School we just want to attach importance to literary variations which is a phenomenon that has long been neglected The purpose of putting forward the Variation Theory in Comparative Literature is to provide new perspectives new methods and new theory to the study of comparative literature which may be a major breakthrough in the international arena of Comparative Literature The neglect of literary variation is mainly because all the previous theories about comparative literature start off in search of similarities but not differences Accordingly in 1990s heterogeneity as a premise of comparability was put forward And later the variation theory was further advanced It is not only the important phenomenon in literary communication but also the most valuable research object in Comparative Literature Still it will be an important path to cultural innovation The Variation Theory may make up the major flaws of theories by both French school and the American School since it focus on heterogeneity and variability in cross cultural literary events especially the ones of inter civilization which will be a new course for comparative literature Throughout the history of literature and the history of literary communication collisions between different civilizations have always been producing new literary events which make the heterogeneity of different civilizations and variability traceable The higher stage of literary communication may mean dialogue and blend between different cultures The overarching concerns of this book include different levels of variation in literary communication and the studies of different objects The introduction begins with a literature review of major achievements made by the French School and the American School with pointing out what they have neglected The body of the book is divided into three parts In the first part Chapter 1 deals with the major contributions of influence study and its weaknesses The origination of comparative literature in most of European countries is reviewed first and then the major contributions of the French School are listed to point out its merits and weaknesses The author discusses the relation between Influence Study and the Variation Theory and the importance of the French school in theoretical development of comparative literature is stressed too Chapter 2 offers a critical introduction and reflection on the study of analogy Both its major contributions and weaknesses are made clear to further illustrate the relationship between interpretation and the Variation Theory And the discursive variation is discussed Part II is a transitional part with only one chapter that gives a clear account of phenomenon of variation from international perspective Part III consists of four chapters Chapter 4 offers a detailed description of The Variation Theory in cross languages context Chapter 5 deals with cross cultural variation in homogeneous circle of civilization Chapter 6 discusses the variation among heterogeneous civilization For a long period of time the theoretical study of comparative literature in China has largely been confined to the Chinese academic arena thus has long been neglected On one hand western comparatists have gradually realized the importance of a non western perspective in the study of the discipline on the other hand few books are available to introduce the recent development of comparative literature study in China Compared with the enthusiastic reception of the theories of the French School and the American School the theories of Chinese comparatists receives relatively little attention in western countries In this sense the proposed book attempts to challenge the myth of monolithic theories of comparative literature trying to construct an alternative theory of the discipline      Comparative poetics Douwe Wessel Fokkema, Elrud Ibsch, A. J. A. van Zoest, 1975

The Transparent Eye Eugene Chen Eoyang, 1993-02-01 In this remarkably stimulating and erudite series of essays Eugene Chen Eoyang explores many of the underlying paradigms and presumptions in world literature highlighting issues of cultural interchange and cultural hegemony Translation is seen in this perspective as a central rather than a peripheral factor in understanding the meanings of literary works Taking concrete examples from Chinese literature Eoyang illuminates not only the semantic collisions that underlie the complexities of translation but also the cultural identities reflected in language and values The title alludes to a passage from Emerson reminding us that the object on view is not only the vision we see but is also the organ through which that vision is apprehended The confrontation with a radical other which is for many Westerners what Chinese literature represents is thus both a discovery and a self discovery Part of the book's originality is that it identifies a new audience one that is incipiently bicultural or knowledgeable about what has been called East as well as what has been called West Readers with an interest in the theory and practice of translation will find this an inspiring and indispensable work one that prepares the way for a comparative poetics that recognizes the intense subjectivities in every culture and at the same time establishes a basis for a comparison that tries to transcend even as it acknowledges provincialities
