An Integrated Approach to Short-Term Dynamic Interpersonal Psychotherapy Joan Haliburn, 2018-03-26 Short term dynamic interpersonal psychotherapy is an integrated trauma informed contemporary dynamic way of working with a range of mental health difficulties. Flexible though structured phase oriented focused and time limited it is informed by the Conversational Model Attachment and Interpersonal Theories and Brief Psychodynamic Psychotherapies which are briefly described. It provides clinicians with a way of working with patients whose difficulties do not warrant long term therapy who prefer a talking therapy or who have failed cognitive behaviour therapies. With the help of examples it guides the process of assessment and therapy with trauma in mind using Conversational Model techniques where empathy replaces confrontation resistance is seen as a fear of re traumatization defence mechanisms are regarded as adaptive coping mechanisms which later become maladaptive transference interventions replace interpretations and self reflective capacity is encouraged rather than just insight. Separation anxiety is addressed and anxiety provoking techniques are avoided given that anxiety is a large part of most presentations.

Brief Dynamic Therapy Hanna Levenson, 2010 In Brief Dynamic Therapy Hanna Levenson discusses the history theory and practice of this approach. Brief dynamic therapy is a time efficient treatment in which the therapist maintains a focus on specific client issues and goals all within a basic psychodynamic conceptual framework. Many different approaches fit this general definition but each shares the brief dynamic characteristics of time management defined focus circumscribed goals active therapist participation rapid assessment prompt intervention an awareness of unconscious processes and techniques that quickly foster a strong alliance with the client. Dr Levenson discusses the approach of brief dynamic therapy in general but focuses on one example time limited dynamic psychotherapy (TLDP) to give readers a richer understanding of this popular model. Time limited dynamic psychotherapy is an integrative approach that uses recent developments in attachment theory, interpersonal neurobiology, affective/experiential learning and systems orientations to help clients with long standing dysfunctional ways of relating to others. It provides a specialized method for delineating the client's cyclical maladaptive interpersonal pattern that can lead to symptoms like depression and anxiety. This approach privileges empathic attunement and awareness of moment to moment affective shifts within the client and transactions between the client and therapist. In this book the author presents and explores this integrative culturally sensitive approach its theory history the therapy process primary change mechanisms empirical basis and future.

developments This essential primer amply illustrated with detailed case examples is perfect for graduate students studying theories of therapy and counseling as well as for seasoned practitioners interested in learning how to do focused depth work
