Learn more: chess.com/terms/castling-chess

Castling is a special defensive move to protect your king, but it also brings your rook into the game. Castling is the only move where you may move two pieces in the same move. Castling is also the only time in chess when it is legal to move the king more than one square. Castling can be performed with either the kingside or queenside rook.

KINGSIDE CASTLE

The white king moves two squares (from e1 to g1), and the white rook moves from h1 to f1. On Chess.com, you can perform castling by dragging your king from the e1-square to the g1-square and the rook swings over to f1 automatically.

QUEENSIDE CASTLE

The white king moves two squares (from e1 to c1), and the white rook moves from a1 to d1. On Chess.com, you simply drag the king to the c1-square to perform queenside castling and the rook automatically moves to d1.

THE RULES OF CASTLING

1. You may only castle if you haven't moved your king and your rook.
2. No piece can be between your king and the rook on the side where you want to castle.
3. If you are in check, you cannot castle. You must first get out of check before you can do anything.
4. You cannot castle if any square the king is moving through is attacked by your opponent's pieces.
Note: rooks on their own can move through an attacked square or when they're attacked.
5. You cannot castle into check. This makes sense since moving into check is illegal in the first place!
