Time in Diaries of Court and Bakufu Officials in the late 13th Century Alexandra Ciorciaro, 2024-11-04 Human existence is fundamentally defined by time Throughout history and across cultures societies have negotiated time in various ways This monograph studies temporality as it emerges from diaries produced by government officials during the late thirteenth century in Japan thereby contributing a perspective gleaned from non literary texts to the study of time in the social sphere of noble elites in the Kamakura period In synthesising different approaches to the study of time it analyses various aspects of time to obtain a comprehensive picture of how time is expressed in these diaries scrutinise the time practices that they disclose and reflect on related conceptualisations and evaluations of time The monograph argues that we may discern a plurality of coexisting modes of time and that certain aspects and concerns took precedence over others in different situations depending on the symbolic forms that dominated them As part of the Time in Medieval Japan TIMEJ research project of the University of Zurich this research aims to contribute to a more nuanced understanding of medieval Japan as multi faceted society with diverse approaches to time

Visualizing the invisible with the human body J. Cale Johnson,Alessandro Stavru,2019-11-05 Physiognomy and ekphrasis are two of the most important modes of description in antiquity and represent the necessary precursors of scientific description The primary way of divining the characteristics and fate of an individual whether inborn or acquired was to observe the patient s external characteristics and behaviour This volume focuses initially on two types of descriptive literature in Mesopotamia physiognomic omens and what we might call ekphrastic description These modalities are traced through ancient India Ugaritic and the Hebrew Bible before arriving at the physiognomic features of famous historical figures such as Themistocles Socrates or Augustus in the Graeco Roman world where physiognomic discussions become intertwined with typological analyses of human characters The Arabic compendial culture absorbed and remade these different physiognomic and ekphrastic traditions incorporating both Mesopotamian links between physiognomy and medicine and the interest in characterological types that had emerged in the Hellenistic period This volume offer the first wide ranging picture of these modalities of description in antiquity Astronomical Calendar 2004 Guy Ottewell,2003 A Book for All Seasons Greta B.
