Bamfo-Agyei,2024-11-22 This book is Volume 2 of the proceedings of 2023 Sustainable Education and Development Research Conference This volume concentrates on papers in the area of green buildings Despite considerable progress more than 700 million people worldwide still lack access to electricity and around 2.4 billion people continue to use harmful and polluting fuels for cooking While efforts have been made to promote renewable energy and energy efficiency they have not been fast enough to achieve Sustainable Development Goal 7 Adding to the challenge the ongoing war in Ukraine has contributed to rising global energy prices and heightened energy insecurity in Europe In response to the energy crisis some European countries are planning to accelerate the transition to renewables and increase investments in clean energy and energy efficiency. However, others are considering a resurgence of coal which poses a risk to the overall green transition. Between 2010 and 2020, the percentage of the global population with access to electricity increased from 83% to 91% with 1.3 billion people gaining access. Nevertheless, this leaves approximately 733 million people still without electricity and most of them reside in sub-Saharan Africa. Achieving universal access by 2030, the annual growth rate in access needs to accelerate from 0.5 percentage points to 0.9 percentage points, necessitating significant efforts in low-income, fragile, and conflict-affected countries. In 2020, 69% of the global population had access to clean cooking fuels and technologies. While more than half of those without access to clean cooking fuels live in Asia, the 20 countries with the lowest percentage of people having access to clean cooking were predominantly least developed countries in Africa. The share of renewable sources in total final energy consumption reached 17.7% globally in 2019, just slightly higher than the figure for 2015. The electricity sector leads in the adoption of renewables, accounting for 26.2% of total final energy consumption in 2019, while the heat and transport sectors have made limited progress. Global primary energy intensity, defined as global total energy supply per unit of GDP, improved from 5.6 megajoules per dollar in 2017 (purchasing power parity) in 2010 to 4.7 megajoules in 2019. However, the rate of improvement (1.6% per year on average since 2015) falls short of the 3.2% annual rate needed to reach Sustainable Development Goal 7.3. International financial flows to support clean and renewable energy in developing countries reached 10.9 billion in 2019, a 23.6% decrease from 2018. This decline occurred even before the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. Over a longer five-year moving average, average annual commitments decreased for the first time since 2008, from 17.5 billion in 2014/18 to 16.6 billion in 2015/19. Although developing countries achieved a record of 245.7 watts per capita in installed renewable energy generating capacity in 2020, small island developing States, least developed countries, and landlocked developing countries have lagged behind. It would take least developed countries and landlocked developing countries nearly 40 years and small island developing States almost 15 years to reach the same level of progress as the average developing country in 2020. The 2023 SEDRC conference, titled "Sustainable Development and Education," aims to redefine the understanding of research in the continent's development and the role of researchers. The conference focuses on applied research discussions and its dissemination. Researchers from research institutions, academicians, postgraduate students, politicians, and industry representatives will be the primary audience for the conference proceedings.

Advances in Structural Engineering (Vasant Matsagar, 2014-12-12) The book presents research papers presented by academicians, researchers, and practicing structural engineers from India and abroad in the recently held Structural Engineering Convention SEC 2014 at Indian Institute of Technology Delhi during 22-24 December 2014. The book is divided into three volumes and encompasses multidisciplinary areas within structural engineering such as earthquake engineering and structural dynamics, structural mechanics, finite element methods, structural vibration control, advanced cementitious and composite materials, bridge engineering, and soil structure interaction. Advances in Structural Engineering is a useful reference material for structural engineering fraternity including undergraduate and postgraduate students academicians researchers and practicing engineers High Performance Structures and Materials VI Willy Patrick Wilde,C. A. Brebbia,Santiago Hernández,2012 Containing the edited papers presented at the Sixth International Conference on High Performance Structures and Materials High Performance Structures and Materials VI addresses the issues involved with advanced types of structures particularly those based on new concepts or new materials Contributions will highlight the latest developments in design optimisation manufacturing and experimentation in these areas The use of novel materials and new structural concepts nowadays is not restricted to highly technical areas like aerospace aeronautical applications or the automotive industry but affects all engineering fields including those such as civil engineering and architecture Most high performance structures require the development of a generation of new materials which can more easily resist a range of external stimuli or react in a non conventional manner The book will cover such topics as Composite materials and structures Lightweight structures Nanocomposites High performance concretes Concrete fibres Automotive composites Steel structures Natural fibre composites Timber structures Material characterisation Experiments and numerical analysis Damage and fracture mechanics Computational intelligence Adaptable and mobile structures Environmentally friendly structures
